SPECIALIZING IN FLYOUT FISHING & BEAR VIEWING

A collage of images featuring bears, fishermen, and seaplanes in an Alaskan setting. The background shows a large mountain range under a blue sky. In the center, a white seaplane with the registration N253TA is on a body of water. Various photos of brown and black bears are scattered throughout, some standing on rocks, some in the water, and some holding fish. Two fishermen are shown holding large salmon. At the bottom, two more fishermen are shown with a large fish, and a small boat with a person is visible on the right. The text 'TALON AIR SERVICE' is at the top in large yellow letters with a red outline. Below it, the phone number '907-262-8899' and the website 'talonair@alaska.net • www.talonair.com' are displayed in red text with a white outline. The phrase 'FLY-IN GUIDED Bear Viewing & Fishing Trips' is in the center in yellow and red text. At the bottom, the word 'EXPERIENCE IT!' is in large white letters with a red outline.

Pieces of Soldotna's History

THE HISTORY OF THE CITY OF SOLDOTNA begins with homesteading that occurred in the late 1940s, although Native Alaskan Athabaskan peoples had also lived and used the areas around the Kenai River for many thousands of years prior to the City's establishment. World War II veterans were among the very first Soldotna homesteaders. The area was opened for homestead filing in 1947 and veterans were granted a 90-day preference over non-veterans in choosing and filing for land. Transportation to the area was difficult; some flew or took a barge to Kenai, then hiked eleven miles to Soldotna, while others took a train to Moose Pass and slogged seventy miles through the mud. In 1947, just a few cabins of the first homesteaders dotted the woods and surrounding area of what is now Soldotna.

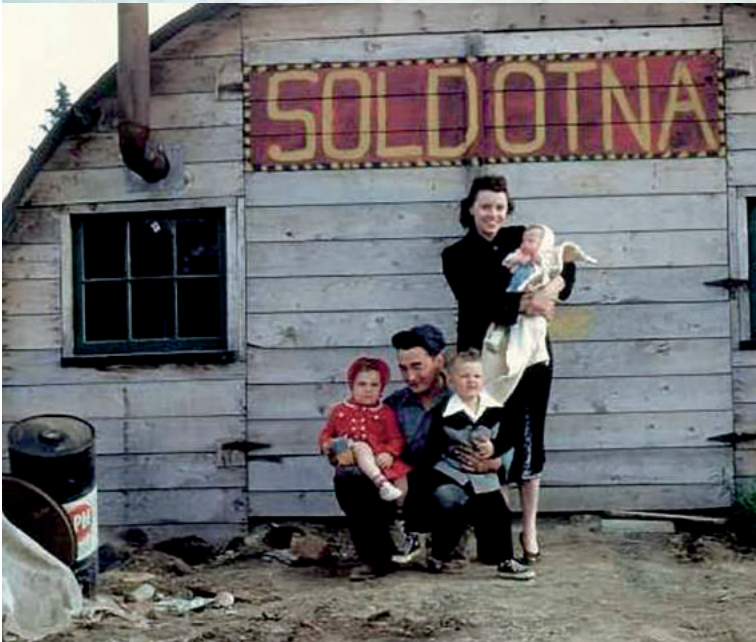

Today, just a few of the 1948 "livable dwellings" that claimed acreage for early homesteaders are on display as part of the Soldotna Historical Society Museum on Centennial Park Road. The cabins are furnished much as they were for homestead living. The Museum's collection of historic buildings also boasts the first Soldotna Chamber of Commerce log tourist center, built in 1961. There are handmade utensils and other mementos of homesteading displayed here along with historic pictures of progress on the Kenai Peninsula.

Gas lanterns still hang in the Slikok Valley School building, the very last of the territorial log schools. Built by homesteader parents in 1958, it was originally located about four miles south of Soldotna, and when Kalifornsky Beach Road was completed in 1960, students were bussed to Soldotna.

An outstanding display of wildlife specimens is featured in Damon Hall; this large building was specifically constructed for the Alaska Centennial. Also on display are Native artifacts and the grounds are landscaped with Alaska flowers and plants.

*The Museum is free and open for the season
May 15–September 15
Monday–Saturday, 10:00 a.m.–4:00 p.m.
Closed on Sundays*

*One may still access the museum grounds in the winter for photo ops, nature trails, and interpretive signage at each historical cabin. If the gate is locked, we recommend parking at

BUSINESS COMES TO SOLDOTNA

SOLDOTNA'S FIRST POST OFFICE was housed in Howard and Maxine Lee's homestead cabin. It served as the post office from 1949-51. It sits on its original Kenai Spur Highway and Corral Street site and has been restored with the building looking much like it did in its original days. The post office was placed on the National Register of Historic Places by the US Department of the Interior in 2008. The old post office is open to the public from June through September during the Saturday Farmer's Market or by appointment.

The construction of the Sterling Hwy. from Anchorage and the Kenai Spur Highway occurred in the 1950s, resulting in increased settlement in the area. In 1952, residents formed a Community Club and in 1959 established the Greater Soldotna Chamber of Commerce. Oil was discovered in 1957 in the Swanson River area, giving the population and economy another boost. Soldotna became a fourth-class city in 1960 and, in 1967 obtained first-class status. The city of Soldotna developed ten miles east of Kenai, and the two cities share an integrated economy while maintaining their unique independent characters. The two are often referred to as the "Twin Cities". In 2016, Soldotna became a Home-rule city.

TODAY, SOLDOTNA IS THE THRIVING HUB OF THE KENAI PENINSULA. Located 140 road miles south of Anchorage at the strategic junction of the Sterling Highway and the Kenai Spur Highway, Soldotna holds the administrative headquarters of the Kenai Peninsula Borough and the Kenai Peninsula Borough School District.

The city of Soldotna took its name from the existing Soldotna Creek that empties into the Kenai River. Some say "Soldotna" came from the Russian word meaning, "soldier". Others say it is from an Athabascan Indian word meaning "the stream fork".

YEAR-ROUND Fun in Soldotna!

WITH OVER 25,000 SQUARE MILES OF PRIME WILD COUNTRY, THE KENAI PENINSULA OFFERS A HUGE ARRAY OF RECREATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES, AND SOLDOTNA IS AT THE “HEART” OF IT ALL.

The summer months in Soldotna are bursting with daylight hours that allow for a packed itinerary. Float the Kenai River on a birding or wildlife trip, fish for a number of different Pacific Salmon species on the famous Kenai River, play a leisurely round of golf, take a bear, glacier, or volcano flightseeing trip, rent a canoe or kayak for a serene paddle on a public lake, take a refreshing hike or a casual stroll on a variety of local trails, rent a bike and cycle around town, catch a rodeo or little league game, or simply, be inspired by the many galleries, gift shops, museums, and local festivals in town.

Shorter daylight in the winter does not deter the nature enthusiast! Soldotna has lit trails for cross country skiing and snowshoeing. All of the public elementary schools have lit hills for snowboarding, sledding, or tubing. The same public lakes are ice laden and are stocked with salmon or trout for the ice angler. Soldotna is, also, home to an Olympic size ice arena with skate rentals. The arena is home to the Kenai River Brown Bears Junior “A” Hockey Team. The Brown Bears’ schedule is from September through March. Swimming isn’t just for summer, either; both Soldotna High School and Skyview Middle School, have indoor pools for lap or open swim.

Soldotna is a place for all seasons! Envision a memorable trip to Soldotna year round! Contact the Soldotna Visitor Center to begin your trip planning!

KENAI RIVER FESTIVAL

JUNE 10-12 ~ SOLDOTNA CREEK PARK

The Kenai Watershed Forum presents the 2022 Kenai River Festival!

This premiere event in the Soldotna/Kenai area brings together over 10,000 people for three days of fun & inspiration on the banks of the world famous Kenai River.

The event is FREE and open to all.

Event activities include children's crafts & science exhibits, delicious local food vendors, great local art vendors, the Run for the River 5K & 10 Mile run, live music, local microbrews beer garden and much more!

25 FREE Things To Do In Soldotna!

ENJOY WILDLIFE AND THE GREAT OUTDOORS

1 Take a walk down the Kenai River Classic Fish Walk located just down the steps from the Soldotna Visitor Center; drop a fishing line, watch for local birds- sometimes, seal and river otters, or continue the walk as it loops back to the visitor center.

2 Visit the interactive, wildlife displays at the Kenai National Wildlife Refuge, watch hourly Alaskan wildlife films, step inside historical cabins, or take guided or unguided walks along marked trails to Headquarters Lake with its wildlife viewing platform.

3 Enjoy the picturesque Kenai River from the Soldotna Creek Park Fish Walk. There's also over 300 feet of wide trail/ramp that is accessible for users of all abilities (with assistance). Bring binoculars and your camera!

4 Look for wildlife like moose, porcupine, and caribou down some of the following Soldotna roads (look for moving, horizontal lines and you just might see a creature or two): Funny River Road, Mackey Lake Road, Echo Lake Road, and Community College Drive.

5 Picnicking and eagle watching happen at A.R.C. Lake; it's a stocked lake, so bring fishing gear.

LET'S GET PHYSICAL

6 Swim, fish, boat, or jet ski on Sport Lake. This public access lake has a small parking area and sandy boat launch; it's stocked with rainbow trout and silver salmon fingerling.

7 Bring the Frisbees, basketballs, and friends or family to Soldotna Creek Park. This park hosts a grassy lawn and a playground, but don't forget to pack a lunch for either the picnic tables or the covered pavilion, too.

8 Run, jog, walk, mountain bike, or cross country ski along the 15 miles of groomed trails known as Tsalteshi Trails. The Squirrel Loop there is home to the River City Disc Golf Course.

MUSEUMS & OTHER CULTURAL OFFERINGS

9 Visit the Soldotna Visitor Center for free wildlife exhibits, including Les Anderson's World Record Kenai River King Salmon.

10 Glimpse early Soldotna life at the Soldotna Historical Society Museum with its homesteading cabins, boats, and the last, Alaskan Territorial Schoolhouse displays.

11 Visit Soldotna's First Post Office which has been placed on the National Register of Historic Places by the US Department of the Interior. It's located off Coral St.

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

12 Listen to a variety of music every Wednesday, June–August, at Music in the Park - a summer concert series held in Soldotna Creek Park; a beer & wine garden, as well as food vendors, are available.

13 Navigate to a specific set of GPS coordinates and then look for geocaches in Soldotna; there are over 100 of them, and one is near the Soldotna Visitor Center.

14 Support Alaskan produce growers and Alaskan artisans by visiting some of our summer, open-air markets; the Soldotna Saturday Farmers Market falls on Saturdays, the Farmers Fresh Market on Tuesdays, and the Soldotna Wednesday Market on Wednesdays.

15 Hunt for colorful, painted rocks around town on public property or hide some of your own- it's the latest craze in community scavenger hunts! Local rock hound groups can be found on Facebook like #SoldotnaROCKS!

16 Pick up a list of local Art Murals & Statues to tour from the Soldotna Visitor Center. Take your camera to document some inspiration for your next art project!

17 In July, tour over 16 businesses that host a quilt on display, made by local artisans. Pick up a Quilt Tour Passport (map) at the Soldotna Visitor Center.

MIX WITH THE LOCALS

18 Book aficionados can visit the Joyce K. Carver Memorial Soldotna Public Library, which hosts free, weekly programs and a number of other services.

19 Meet a new, furry friend or bring your four-legged pal to the 3 Friends Dog Park on North Aspen Drive. To enter the park, there is a double gate system that provides extra security, as well as a tall fence that lines the park's perimeter.

20 Several galleries host local art like ivory and jade carvings, fur accessories, paintings, and photographic prints. Make your itinerary for an art walk, and don't forget to stop in a local coffee shop or sandwich shop, as many of these have rotating art by local artists adorning their walls!

21 Alaskans like to craft! Visit one or more of the several seasonal craft & vendor shows. Check the community calendar on visitsoldotna.com for dates.

WINTER ENJOYMENT

22 Be a kid at heart and take friends and family sledding. Check out Redoubt, K-Beach, or Soldotna Elementary schools for their snow hills next to their recess areas!

23 A classic winter experience when the ice is thick (usually mid-November through March) is to go ice-fishing. Sport Lake, Longmere Lake, and Scout Lake are local favorites for ice-fishing for stocked lake trout.

24 In winter, take a sled, snowboard, snowshoes, or cross-country skis to Skyview Middle School. Behind the school, is a hill for sledding and an entrance to lit, manicured trails (Tsalteshi Trails) for outdoor, winter recreation!

25 Ring in the New Year by bringing the family and skates to the outdoor, ice-skating path at Soldotna Creek Park.

OPEN AIR Markets

WHILE VISITING SOLDOTNA, STOP BY ONE OF OUR OPEN AIR MARKETS TO GET A TASTE OF LIFE ON THE KENAI PENINSULA. WE HAVE THREE MARKETS OPEN EVERY TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, AND SATURDAY THROUGHOUT THE SUMMER!

The Local Food Directory for Alaska's Central Kenai Peninsula can be picked up at the Soldotna Visitor Center or by visiting www.KenaiLocalFood.org.

Much of what you buy at the FARMERS FRESH MARKET is harvested mere hours before it arrives on site! Find broccoli, cauliflower, garlic, carrots, tomatoes, potatoes and local berries in season in addition to fresh flowers, eggs, jellies and jams every Tuesday from 3:00 p.m.–6:00 p.m., June through September.

Support locally grown produce by visiting the market at the Kenai Peninsula Food Bank, located at 33955 Community College Drive, off K-Beach Rd. The market has fun activities for the kids, Chef at the Market demonstrations, and local food information. Check out their Facebook page!

SOLDOTNA'S WEDNESDAY MARKET is where you'll find hanging flower baskets, perennials for your garden, Alaskan grown vegetables, fresh breads and jams, Alaskan reindeer sausage, Alaskan handmade crafts, and various other vendors selling their goods.

Bring your family, guests, and friends to the Soldotna Creek Park this summer to shop the market, enjoy the river walk, catch a tune from the live, local musicians on the bandstand, grab a bite to eat from one of the many food vendors, or check out the kids' playground. The Wednesday Market really is a one stop for all! Wednesdays from 11:00 a.m.–6:00 p.m.! Check out their Facebook page!

THE SOLDOTNA SATURDAY FARMERS MARKET, the area's oldest market at 26 years strong, is an open air market that takes place on Saturdays from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., June through September. It is located just off the Kenai Spur Highway on Corral. The market promotes locally grown produce and farm products, as well as arts and crafts. You'll find fresh vegetables, herbs, mushrooms and flowers, as well as honey, jams and unique locally-made pickles, relish and baked goods. You'll also find pottery, sewing, jewelry, spun wool, and/ or wood products.

This market also hosts free cooking and spinning demonstrations, children's activities, and tours of Soldotna's historic first post office. Visit them on Facebook.

Farm and food vendors from all three markets come together for the HARVEST MOON LOCAL FOOD FESTIVAL on Saturday, Sept. 10 in Soldotna Creek Park. More info at www.KenaiLocalFood.org!

Summer MUSIC in the PARK

SUMMER WEDNESDAY EVENINGS IN SOLDOTNA ARE TIMES THAT EVERYONE LOOKS FORWARD TO.

That's when the famous—and free!—Levitt AMP Soldotna Music Series takes place in the beautiful Soldotna Creek Park. It happens weekly from June through August. On top of catching some great music, it's a fantastic chance to meet locals.

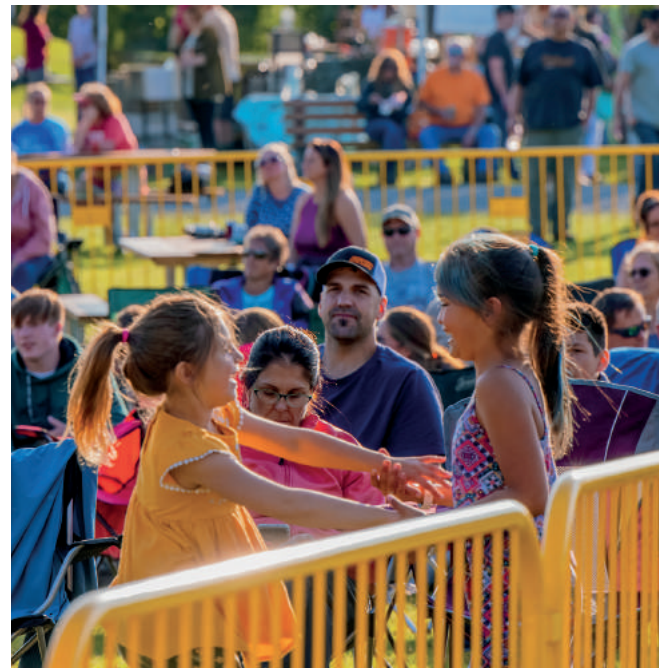

And there will be plenty of locals! On a sunny day, up to 2,000 people might turn out for the show, coming in from as far away as Homer. Of course, plenty of visitors join in the fun as well. Each week, the music kicks off at 6 p.m. with an opening act—usually a local band; then there's a headliner, who may be regional or national, who plays until 9 p.m. It's 3 full hours of music! And there's a thrilling diversity of genres. The full schedule is released each April, so you can see who's playing when.

The music follows Soldotna's Wednesday Market, where you can enjoy food and peruse crafts for sale from all over the state. Then transition into the evening. Adults can enjoy the lively beer garden, and kids can engage with activities on the lawn, which might include a drum session on buckets or an art project. Bring your appetite, 12+ food vendors are on-site for the evening, something for everyone. Then get ready for the music! (And BYO lawn chair or blanket.)

This popular community gathering may feel like it has a long history, but it's relatively new. It was a director of the Soldotna Chamber of Commerce—a music lover—who created this event in 2015, as the perfect add-on to the Wednesday Market. And since 2019, the music series has partnered with Levitt AMP through the Levitt Foundation to help build community with free, live music in public spaces.

The music series has been an amazing success. In addition to a wide variety of music, you'll find a diverse group of people—from Alaskan old-timers to business professionals and families. The event is also a magnet, gathering people in the heart of town and giving everyone a common connection. And you can feel even more like a part of the community by volunteering to help out with things like set-up/tear down, counting the crowds, or walking around with donation buckets. However you decide to experience this music fest, it's an event not to be missed!

CRAFT BEER & the Last Frontier

SOLDOTNA IS HOME TO TWO OUTSTANDING OUTDOOR CRAFT BEER FESTIVALS, HELD ANNUALLY IN FEBRUARY AND AUGUST.

FROZEN RIVERFEST is held in Soldotna Creek Park on the third Saturday of February, and features music, beer, and local food trucks. $25 admission covers your tasting cup and three drink tokens. Non-drinkers are only charged $5. Children are free but must be accompanied by their legal guardian. For more information, check out Frozen RiverFest on Facebook.

THE KENAI PENINSULA BEER FESTIVAL is held every August at the Soldotna Sports Center. This festival is always a highlight of summer, for both locals and visitors alike. Created as a community event to feature craft beers from around Alaska, the festival is a primary fundraiser for the Rotary Club of Soldotna. All the beer served has been donated, and all proceeds go to support local Rotary projects. In addition to great beers offered from over a dozen breweries, live music and food are available. A commemorative glass with eight, four-ounce pours included is $50 at admission. For more information check out, www.kenabeerfest.com.

THE CENTRAL KENAI PENINSULA IS BLESSED WITH AN ABUNDANCE OF EXCELLENT, LOCALLY-PRODUCED CRAFT BEER. SINCE 2006, CRAFT BREWERIES AND BREWPUBS IN SOLDOTNA HAVE BEEN BREWING AWARD-WINNING BEERS FOR THE ENJOYMENT OF LOCALS AND VISITORS ALIKE.

Currently, in Soldotna, there is one brewery and one brewpub in operation. Visitors to Alaska should be aware that breweries and brewpubs operate under different rules by state law. Breweries are only allowed to sell 36 ounces per person per day for consumption on-site in their taprooms; brewpubs are not limited in this way. Both are restricted to selling a maximum of 5 gallons per person per day for consumption off-site.

KENAI RIVER BREWING COMPANY

Established in 2006, this brewery is located at the corner of 47th and Homestead Streets, behind the Walgreens at the intersection of the Sterling and Kenai Spur Highways in downtown Soldotna. You can enjoy its outstanding beers in its taproom or on its covered and heated patio. Try its Skilak River Scottish Ale, Sunken Isle IPA, or Peninsula Brewers Reserve Ale – all available in cans throughout Alaska – or sample one of its rotating seasonal brews..

ST. ELIAS BREWING COMPANY

Located on the south side of the Sterling Highway, just east of the Fred Meyer in Soldotna, this brewpub opened for business in 2008. Besides offering excellent beers produced on-site, St. Elias is well-known for its outstanding gourmet pizzas, salads, and sandwiches. Typically, there are six flagship beers always on tap, plus another five or six rotating seasonal beers offered. Try the malty Farmer's Friend, Rye Ale, or the hoppy Williwaw IPA. During the summer, outdoor dining is also available on their patio.

Kenai National Wildlife Refuge

THE KENAI NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE IS ONE OF OVER 500 UNITS IN THE NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE SYSTEM, A NEARLY TWO MILLION ACRE NETWORK OF LANDS AND WATERS SET ASIDE TO HELP CONSERVE OUR NATION'S FISH AND WILDLIFE HERITAGE.

Soldotna is home to the Kenai National Wildlife Refuge headquarters. The KNWR is characterized by diverse habitats and wildlife. Moose, bears, bald eagles, and salmon are just a sampling of the wildlife variety here. It's not unlikely for Soldotna residents to have some of these animals visit their yards throughout the year. Wildlife viewing is one of the refuge's key attractions and visitors can observe animals in alpine tundra, wetlands, and boreal forest.

Fishing, camping, and hiking opportunities also draw visitors from Alaska and from around the world to the Refuge's Skilak Wildlife Recreation Area. The Swanson River and Swan Lake canoe systems provide an opportunity to really get into

There are 16 public-use cabins located in the Kenai National Wildlife Refuge. Getting there can be a thrilling adventure in itself, as most require the use of boats, aircraft, hiking, or skiing.

Call 877-444-6777 or search for Kenai National Wildlife Refuge Cabins at www.recreation.gov the backcountry and observe wilderness at its most pristine.

Kenai National Wildlife Refuge was first established as the Kenai National Moose Range in 1941 to protect moose. In 1980, the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act (ANILCA) changed the name and purpose of the refuge. The refuge now exists to protect wildlife populations, the variety of habitats they need to survive, and for you, the visitor, to enjoy.

The refuge maintains a visitor center/headquarters on Ski Hill Road in Soldotna. Opened in May 2015, the new Visitor Center houses the state-of-the-art interactive "Icefield to Ocean" exhibit hall, a welcoming lobby with a wood-burning masonry heater, and regularly shows wildlife films and hosts ranger programs in a spacious multipurpose room.

Two historic cabins have been restored near the Visitor Center. The 1940s Elwell Cabin, visible from the exhibit hall windows, is open to the public daily. The 1920s Andrew Berg Homestead Cabin is open during guided tours and scheduled field trips.

The Keen-Eye Trail, adjacent to the refuge visitor center is a scenic ¾ mile walk through spruce forest and wetlands with a lovely view of Headquarters Lake. Frequently seen wildlife includes moose, eagles, ravens, owls, snowshoe hare, red squirrels, arctic terns, songbirds, and waterfowl. The nature trail is a relaxing way to stretch your legs and enjoy nature after traveling the very busy Sterling Highway. For those wishing for a longer hike, the 2 mile Centennial Trail is the answer.

Wildlife Viewing TRAILS & TIPS

No matter the season, with 65 sites to explore on the Kenai Peninsula, you're bound to see something interesting!

MAKE SOLDOTNA YOUR HOME BASE to explore the vast wildlife trail system known as the Kenai Peninsula Wildlife Viewing Trail (trail maps are available at the Soldotna Visitor Center). This trail is a string of scenic overlooks, backcountry drives, nature trails, and other sites where you can look for your favorite Alaska wildlife.

Whether you're visiting Alaska for the first time or a lifelong resident, the KPWW Trail offers the inside scoop on the best places to go. Try it out for photography, birding, or a family outing.

In Soldotna, we recommend beginning your wildlife viewing excursion at the Kenai Peninsula Wildlife Refuge Visitor Center, located on Ski Hill Rd. The KNWR Visitor Center has nearly three miles of well-maintained trails and boardwalks that meander through diverse habitats, including a stop at Headquarters Lake.

Have binoculars and cameras ready for the chance to see porcupine, muskrat, moose, and a plethora of birds, from small, Boreal Chickadees to the vocal, Great Horned Owl.

Another recommendation is visiting the Slikok Creek State Recreation Site, located off West Endicott Drive. The entrance to this site is tucked away in a residential neighborhood, but don't let that deter you from finding this gem!

This quiet tributary to the Kenai River is home to two, scenic woodland trails that dead-end at the Kenai River. Look for waterfowl, eagles, moose, and a variety of salmon and trout. After exhausting the in-town wildlife sites, venture in any direction for more opportunities for wildlife encounters.

WILDLIFE VIEWING TIPS

- Never approach or pursue an animal to take its picture. Use binoculars or telephoto lenses to get a better view.
- If an animal moves closer to you, back away to maintain a safe distance.
- Restrain pets or leave them at home.
- Stay in or next to your car when watching bears.
- Learn to recognize signs of alarm.
- Be respectful of nesting and denning areas, rookeries, or calving grounds by treading lightly or avoiding an area altogether if it's habited.
- Leave "orphaned" or sick animals alone.

Bear Safety

Bears live throughout the Soldotna area and it's possible to encounter one while you're fishing, hiking, or traveling.

TRAVELING IN BEAR COUNTRY

Black and Brown (Grizzly) Bears are both found throughout the Kenai National Wildlife Refuge. Be alert and use your senses to evaluate fresh bear signs such as tracks, scat, claw marks, and strong scents. Make noise to avoid surprising a bear. Be especially careful along noisy streams, in thick brush, and where visibility is poor.

If you see a bear—stay calm. If the bear does not notice you, quietly leave the area from the same direction you arrived. Keep your eyes on the bear. If a bear does notice you, face the bear, wave your arms, and talk to it calmly. Try to appear larger by standing close to your group. If a bear approaches you, stand still. Do not run! If a bear attacks, fall to the ground and play dead. Lie flat on your stomach, or curl up in a ball with your hands behind your head. Keep your pack on.

FISHING IN BEAR COUNTRY

If a bear approaches you while you have a fish on the line, cut the line and leave the area. Fish remains attract bears. Toss all fish waste into deep, fast-moving water. Do not put fish waste in dumpsters or on shore. Cut all fish carcasses into small pieces so the water current can carry and disperse them more easily. When you carry fish out, store them in sealed, plastic garbage bags to decrease odors that could attract bears on paths and trails. Store the following in bear-proof containers: all food, bait, line, tackle, fishy clothes, and garbage. Avoid fishing during times of low visibility (dawn, dusk, and at night) to prevent bear encounters. Always keep your dog on a leash and under control to prevent negative bear encounters.

Trails, Trails & More Trails

THERE ARE A VARIETY OF TRAIL TYPES IN AND NEAR THE GREATER SOLDOTNA AREA THAT OFFER ACCESS TO THE BEAUTY OF THE KENAI PENINSULA; NATURE, HIKING, AND RECREATIONAL TRAILS ARE ALL AVAILABLE.

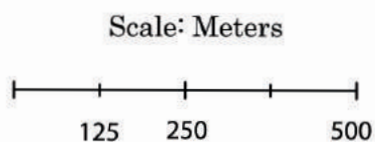

Runners, walkers, climbers, mountain bikers, cyclists, and walkers of all levels are certain to find a favorite trail. On all of these trails, though, one must be aware of the chance of wildlife encounters. Nobody should hike unprepared. Dress in layers; bring your camera, binoculars, bear spray, insect repellent, and GPS, just in case. Water is NOT available along most trails and sturdy hiking boots are recommended for higher elevations. For more serious climbers, books and maps are available for purchase or reference at the Soldotna Visitor Center. For printable hiking maps in the Kenai National Wildlife Refuge, visit www.fws.gov/refuge/Kenai/map.html.

TRAIL ETIQUETTE

Always read trailhead guidelines if posted at a trailhead. There may be specific rules for the trail you are on. Here are a bunch of tips to make it easier to share the trail with others.

- Pack it in, pack it out! Leave no trace! Pack out all trash, leftover food, toilet paper, and hygiene products.
- Stay on the trail; do not cut switchbacks or take shortcuts; this helps eliminate trail erosion.
- Stay to the right on wider paths. Pass on the left.
- Groups are encouraged to yield to single and smaller group hikers. Also, groups should hike single file or take no more than half of a wide trail.
- Those hiking downhill should yield to those moving uphill.
- Bikers yield to hikers and horses; hikers yield to horses.
- Greet other trail users, whether it's a smile, nod, or simply, "Hello!"
- Take a Picture. A pretty rock or a bunch of flowers deserve to remain where they are.
- Report vandalism to the trails operating agency.
- Have control of your pets; know which trails are pet-friendly.

Kenai Peninsula Birding

THE KENAI PENINSULA HAS EXCELLENT BIRDING TO OFFER AS A PART OF YOUR ALASKAN ADVENTURE. ALASKA HAS 492 DOCUMENTED SPECIES OF BIRDS WITH ANOTHER 24 UNSUBSTANTIATED SPECIES.

The Kenai Peninsula has 286 of those species and at least a dozen more unconfirmed species. As the number of birders increases here on the Kenai Peninsula, the number of new species increases as well. There is always a chance that your birding trip will produce a new species to add to the list.

Birding on the Kenai Peninsula takes you from alpine birding to saltwater birding in Homer and Seward. The Kenai and Kasilof River flats provide excellent birding opportunities. The lakes, rivers, ponds, and creeks as well as back roads produce a variety of birds.

Soldotna is at the center of the highway system here on the Peninsula. You can bird by vehicle, boat or on a variety of hiking trails. Our Kenai Peninsula has great birding all year long. In early spring we have many migrant birds that stop to refuel here before going further north.

Summer birding is excellent as we have a wide variety of birds that raise their families here along with some shorebirds already headed south. Fall gives us a good look at more migrants. Winter birding gives us a chance to enjoy our hardy birds that stay here year- round.

One popular birding festival held in early summer is the Kachemak Bay Shorebird Festival in Homer. Birders of all ages and abilities are welcome to attend. Participants will be asked to show their Festival Badges at each event. You can pick up your finalized tickets and Festival badge at Islands & Ocean Visitor Center, Shorebird Festival headquarters. Check out kachemakshorebird.org for upcoming dates and presenters. Also, check out facebook.com/kenaipeninsulabirdfestival for tips, presentations, and exhibits.

The Kenai National Wildlife Refuge provides a useful bird checklist that can be found on Google. The Refuge hotline number for wildlife and birding is 907-262-2300. In Homer, the birding hotline number is 907-235-peep.

Come and bird with us on the Kenai Peninsula. Bring your cameras, bird books, and binoculars!

THE VARIETY OF BLOOMS BLANKETING THE KENAI PENINSULA SEEMS ENDLESS, AND THE FLOWERS SEEM TO GROW EVERYWHERE, FROM HIGH ALPINE CRAGS TO LOWLAND MEADOWS AND MARSHES, AND ALL THE ECOSYSTEMS IN BETWEEN.

While most of these blooms are pleasing to look at, more than just a few can be used for human consumption or medicine. A few of the wildflowers one may encounter throughout the Kenai are listed here with a brief description, a quick mention of any special use it may have, and whether or not it is toxic.

It is extremely important that one identify a plant before attempting to eat it. The Soldotna Visitor Center has regional guidebooks for sale or reference. More information can also be found at the Cooperative Extension Office located at 43961 K-Beach Road. Visitors are encouraged to stop by for a visit when in the area. Call for business hours at 907-262-5824.

COMMON PLANTS IN THE AREA

1 WATERMELON BERRY

The fruit is yellowish-white or orange or light red when ripe. These berries are commonly found in damp, wooden areas and are similar to one grape on a stalk. They're available in the spring with a cucumber-like flavor.

2 HIGH-BUSH CRANBERRY

This berry is not really a cranberry but a shrub and has received the name through common usage. They grow in cool woods, thickets, or on rocky banks. The fruit grows in clusters on short branches and is available in the late summer and fall. Highbush cranberries make tasty jellies.

3 NORTHERN RED CURRANT

The currant is a shrub that can reach 5 feet tall. The berry is black or red, smooth, and translucent. Find them in the woods or swamps and subalpine areas. They are available in the late summer.

4 CLOUDBERRY

These plants only get several inches tall on slender stems and grow singly in bogs, open tundra, or forest. They produce single tasty berries resembling peach-colored raspberries. Unripe cloudberries are hard and sour, but as the berries ripen, they soften and become sweeter.

5 BANEERRY

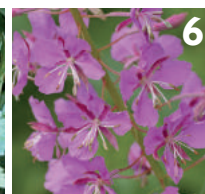

(Highly Toxic) Baneberry can cause burning of the mouth and throat, salivation, severe stomach cramps, headache, diarrhea, dizziness, and even hallucinations. This berry grows from a long stem in clusters of white or red berries that have black spots on each end. The leaves are elongated with three-lobed, serrated edges. They ripen mid-July through August and resemble the High-Bush Cranberry.

6 FIREWEED

Fireweed is completely edible and extremely common. A member of the primrose family, its roots, stalks, leaves, and flowers of the younger plants make a tasty salad. It's high in vitamins and contains some protein. Fireweed reaches peak bloom towards the end of July to early Aug.

7 BEACHHEAD IRIS

An early bloomer, this wild Iris boasts dark purple blossom burgeons atop thick blade-like stalks. They're common in many different habitats from riverbanks to meadows. Much of the plant's parts are toxic when consumed.

8 FORGET-ME-NOT

Alaska's state flower can be found growing low, in subalpine and alpine meadows and on slopes throughout the Kenai. South-facing slopes are the most common areas to find this beautiful blue flower blooming from late May to June. The plant occasionally produces a pink or white bloom.

9 NOOTKA LUPINE

Lupine is a perennial plant growing throughout Alaska, on dry slopes and fields. This upright showy blue flower grows on stalks that can be up to 16 inches in height. Lupine are poisonous to eat!

10 WILD CHIVE

Common to moist areas, wild chives are similar to domestic chives. Tall and grass-like, its leaves are best in the spring and the bulbs in the summer and fall.

11 NORTHERN GERANIUM

A pretty plant that grows short in grassy areas, the Northern Geranium's blossoms are light blue or violet, and its roots can be refined into an effective astringent. View this flower between June and August. Both the Dena'ina and Aleuts used this flower as a sore throat treatment.

12 KAMCHATKA LILY

Also known as the Chocolate Lily, Kamchatka Lilies are native perennial forbs that grow in moist tide flats, meadows, open forests, rocky beaches, and stream banks in the lowland to subalpine zones. Flowering from May to July, the flowers are dark greenish-brown to brownish-purple and come with an unpleasant smell. Although slightly bitter, some people still collect and eat Chocolate Lily bulbs.

13 MONKSHOOD

Monkshood is the most poisonous plant native to North America. These unique purple flowers can be found around Soldotna from June through late August. They're found occasionally in meadows from sea level to alpine, but they're most common in subalpine meadows.

Fishing the WORLD-FAMOUS Kenai River

THE LARGEST RECREATIONAL FISHERY IN ALASKA IS SUPPORTED BY THE KENAI RIVER, A GLACIALLY TURBID STREAM DRAINING THE CENTRAL KENAI PENINSULA (ORIGINATING AT THE OUTLET OF KENAI LAKE IN COOPER LANDING).

This popular river supports excellent runs of anadromous (sea-run) King, Silver, Sockeye, and Pink Salmon, both resident (exclusively freshwater) and anadromous Dolly Varden Char, in addition to resident Rainbow Trout. Lake trout are common in the Kenai and Skilak Lakes of the Kenai River System.

1 KING (CHINOOK) SALMON

The very name “King” connotes a large fish, but not all King Salmon caught are necessarily large. A combination of genetics, food availability, and the life history of each fish determines the size of a salmon. However, the Kenai River boasts more than its fair share of King Salmon both in name and size; the world record (sport caught) King Salmon was taken in 1985 from the Kenai River and weighed in at a whopping 97 pounds and 4 ounces.

Two distinct runs represent the largest freshwater King Salmon fishery in Alaska. The early run usually begins to enter the Kenai River around mid-May, reaching a peak in June and finishing by the end of the month. Salmon from the late run enter the river in early July and provide excellent fishing until the end of the month.

Bring along an ample supply of patience and courtesy, because the Kenai River King Salmon fishery is extremely popular and, on occasion, can become a bit crowded. Operate your boat by following the “rules of the road” and extend to your fellow angler the same courtesies you would like to receive. Give boats with “fish on” the widest berth possible to avoid line tangles.

At its best, King Salmon fishing is not a sport recommended for the impatient. On the average, it requires approximately 31 hours of fishing before an angler boats a king. However, you can improve your chances by hiring a guide. On the Kenai River, guided anglers are about three times as efficient as non-guided anglers.

2 SILVER (COHO) SALMON

As with King Salmon, there are also two runs of Silver Salmon that enter the Kenai River. The early run arrives in late July, but most anglers choose not to fish for Silvers until the close of the King season on July 31st. This run peaks in early to mid-August and is complete by early September. The late run follows in early September and closes on September 30th. Many professional guides also offer silver salmon charters in addition to their normal King Salmon packages.

3 RED (SOCKEYE) SALMON

Red Salmon return to the Kenai River beginning in late May. These early-run fish are bound for the Russian River drainage, but prior to arriving at the Russian River, the only area where these fish concentrate is at the confluence of the Moose and Kenai Rivers in early June. From mid-June to early July, Red Salmon can be harvested at the confluence of the Russian and Kenai Rivers. Both of the areas are designated as “fly-fishing-only” areas, which means that the terminal gear must be an unweighted fly and not specifically that a fly rod must be used.

The late run of Red Salmon enters the Kenai River in early July, peaking in late July, and is finished by early August. These fish are bound for numerous tributaries throughout the Kenai River System including the Russian River, as well as the mainstream Kenai River from the outlet of Skilak Lake to Kenai Lake. The entry pattern is gradual until approximately July 20th, when it peaks for about one week to ten days, after which the abundance of Red Salmon rapidly declines. The late run may be harvested at the Russian River from about July 20th through the close of the season on August 20th.

4 PINK SALMON

On "even years" (2014, 2016, 2018, etc.) harvestable numbers of Pink Salmon are available in the Kenai River. These fish are favored by youngsters because of their abundance and their aggressiveness towards nearly any spinning lure. This species also offers an excellent challenge to the angler equipped with light tackle. Most Pink Salmon are taken from shore and are readily harvested in the Kenai River downstream from Skilak Lake.

5 RAINBOW TROUT

Year-round residents of the Kenai River, Rainbow Trout are abundant from upstream of the Soldotna Bridge to Skilak Lake. The Kenai River does not have a natural run of Steelhead Trout, but it boasts trophy size Rainbows throughout the river system. Good fishing occurs from Moose River to Skilak Lake and from Skilak Lake to the Russian River. The area from Kenai Lake downstream to and including Skilak Lake within one-half mile of the Kenai River is managed as a "catch and release" area. In this area, only single-hook, artificial lures may be used and all trout must be released.

6 DOLLY VARDEN

Both resident and anadromous populations of Dolly Varden are supported in the Kenai River System. Available throughout the entire year, preferred fishing areas are from Naptowne Rapids upstream to Skilak Lake and from the inlet of Skilak Lake upstream to Kenai Lake. As with Rainbow Trout, Dolly Varden are conservatively managed in the upstream area of the river. Anadromous Dolly Varden begin to enter the river in early July and continue into September. These fish spawn in the fall and overwinter in the rivers and lakes. In spring (April - May) they are intercepted by anglers in the lower river below Soldotna as they return to the Cook Inlet.

Always check ADF&G regulations closely before fishing. For general fishing questions, call 907.262.9368. For a local, ADF&G Fishing Report, call the fishing hotline at 907.262.2737. For current fish counts, call 907.262.9097. One can now purchase a fishing license online to print at home at www.adfg.alaska.gov/store/

WORLD RECORDS Were Made to be BROKEN

AT ABOUT 7 A.M. ON MAY 17, 1985, LES AND HIS FISHING PARTNER, BUD LOFSTEDT, WERE FISHING OUT OF THE PILLARS DRIFT FOR EARLY SEASON KING SALMON ON THE KENAI RIVER WHEN LES HOOKED THE LUNKER OF HIS LIFE!

The large fish had plenty of spunk and gave the pair an exciting hour or so of adventure as it led them first upriver and then back down.

When Les hooked the fish it went airborne and crossed Bud's line. Bud managed to get the line untangled and reeled in, but when he headed the boat upstream after the fish, Les was knocked off his feet to the bottom of the boat. He managed to hold on as the big fish led them up to Honeymoon Cove and back to the Pillars.

More problems came up when they tried to land the behemoth: the net was just too small. After three attempts, they finally beached the boat and manhandled the fish to shore. At the time, neither fisherman realized that the fish was a potential world record so they continued to fish the rest of the morning. At 2 p.m. in the afternoon they finally got around to weighing the fish on the official scale located at Echo Lake Lockers.

The fish may have lost as much as two pounds in the five hours since it was hooked, but even at 97.25 lbs, it soundly beat the previous record of 93 lbs.

Les's world record salmon is proudly displayed in the Soldotna Visitor Center.

Les Anderson, holder of the world record for his 97 ¼ pound King Salmon wished everyone the best in beating the record and "taking the heat off of me!" Well, not in Les's lifetime did that happen. Les Anderson died on August 26th, 2003 holding the current record.

Perhaps this is the year that someone will break the elusive one-hundred-pound mark – a new record that could undoubtedly stand for another thirty years or even forever?

Soldotna Parks

EXPERIENCE SOLDOTNA'S MANY PARKS - GREAT PLACES TO CAMP, PICNIC, WALK, OR FISH ALONG THE FAMOUS KENAI RIVER ON OVER 5,000 FEET OF ELEVATED BOARDWALKS.

Visit our parks and you will understand why Soldotna is a favorite playground for Alaskans!

RIVER ACCESS CAMPING PARKS

Centennial Park has 176 campsites; some along the river and all come with picnic tables, fire pits, and lots of trees. Centennial is not just for camping, though; it also has 650+ feet of elevated boardwalks, gravel pathways, and parking spaces combined with lots of river access and a boat launch. Centennial Park offers a large handicapped accessible fish walk. Centennial is considered dry camping and does not take reservations.

Swiftwater Park also borders the Kenai River with 100 campsites secluded in the woods. Each campsite comes with a picnic table and fire pit with potable water available at the well houses. Swiftwater also offers a boat launch and more than 800 feet of elevated boardwalks built along the river's edge. Multiple river access stairways down to Kenai River fish walk as well as ADA Accessible fish walks are available. Swiftwater is considered dry camping and does not take reservations.

RIVER ACCESS PARKS

Rotary Park has 650 feet of elevated boardwalk and is the place to be for catching Sockeye or Silver Salmon. It's located near the Soldotna Municipal Airport and has a handicapped-accessible trail leading to the river. This is a fee-user area

Soldotna Visitor Center has a large parking lot and 250 feet of elevated boardwalk, no charge to park or fish here, but one will need to hike down to the river either on a set of stairs or the handicapped accessible trail near the bike path.

Soldotna Creek Park has 13+ acres of riverfront property, an amphitheater, playground, a basketball court, pavilion, and picnic area with barbecues and 2300 feet of elevated boardwalk. A wonderful place to spend the day!

DAY USE PARKS

Aspen Park hosts a playground with a neighboring dog park called Three Friends Dog Park. The dog park is fenced in with an area for smaller dogs.

Farnsworth Park is "Dedicated to the Children of Soldotna," a pavilion with picnic tables that offers shade during those long summer days or unexpected weather.

Riverview Park is a place to take a break while the kids get exercise away from the traffic and neighborhoods.

Sunrise Park was developed as a soccer and baseball field. It is a great place to swing a bat or kick a ball around.

Parker Park is next to the Soldotna Senior Center; it has several maintained trails and pathways.

Kenai River Fishing Hot Spots

1. KENAI RIVER FLATS STATE RECREATION SITE

River Mile 5. Operated by Alaska State Parks. Phone (907) 262-5581. It's located on the south side of Kenai River on Bridge Access Rd. Interpretive panels, bulletin board, picnic tables, and limited parking and toilet facilities. No boat launch. It also serves as foot access to dip net fishing (Alaskan residents, only). It provides limited bank sport fishing opportunities because of steep banks and mud. Parking fees are seasonal.

2. CITY OF KENAI

3. THE PILLARS

4. BIG EDDY

5. SLIKOK CREEK DAY-USE PICNIC AREA

River Mile 19. Operated by Alaska State Parks. Phone (907) 262-5581. Access is on the west side of the Kenai River off the residential road, Endicott Drive (K-Beach Rd.) There's a small parking lot, picnic tables, toilet, and a trail to the north and south sides of the creek, itself. The preferred sockeye fishing area is on the south side of the creek. Parking fee.

6. CENTENNIAL PARK

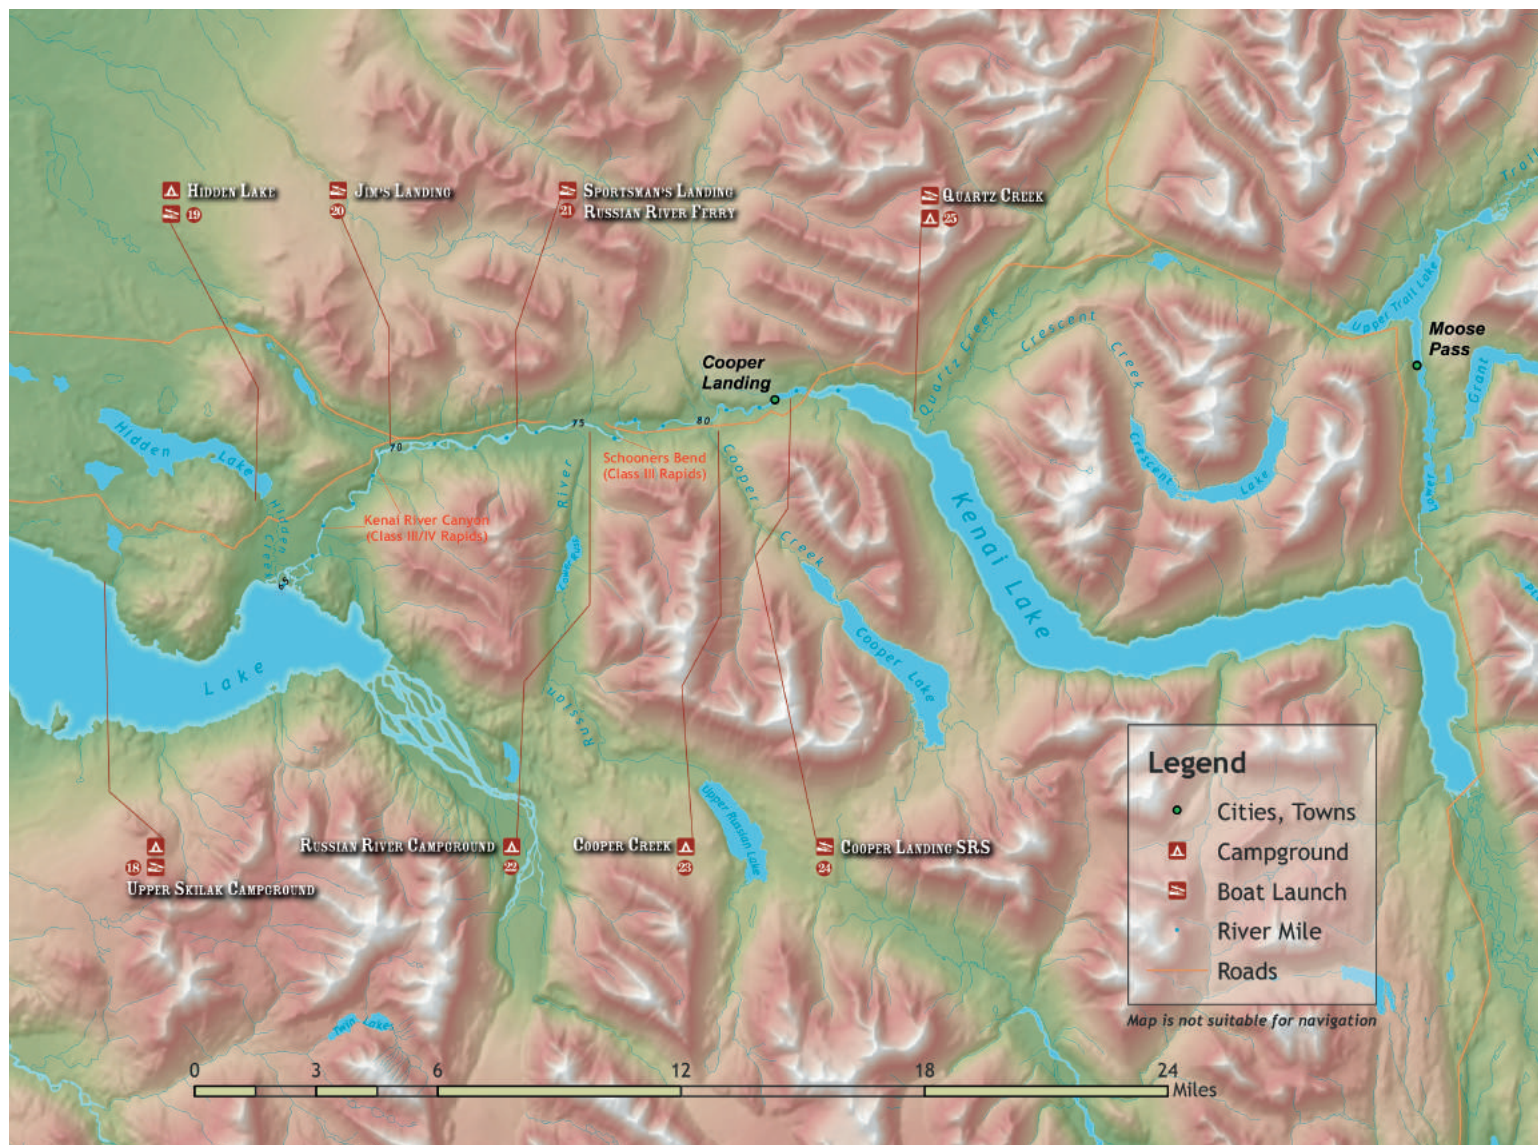

River Mile 20.5. Operated by the City of Soldotna. Phone (907) 262-3151. Access is from Kalifornsky Beach Rd; this is one of the more popular bank fishing areas on the south side of the Kenai River. There is approximately one mile of bank to fish from in the area, not to mention, a large handicap-accessible area (95 feet), too. Dip net fishers may access the public fish cleaning station for a small fee. This is a City of Soldotna Campground and dry camping and restroom facilities are available. Day use or seasonal permits are available. Call 907.262.3151. Parking fee.

7. SOLDOTNA VISITOR INFORMATION CENTER

River Mile 21. The center is accessed from the Sterling Highway and is just downstream from Soldotna Bridge on the south side of the Kenai River. Parking is available at the visitor center. The elevated boardwalk is behind the visitor center. Take either a wooden staircase down to the boardwalk or use the gravel trail (handicap accessible with assistance). Toilets and picnic tables are available. There is limited fish cleaning space available at this location. Dip netters (Alaska residents, only) are encouraged to use the multiple fish cleaning tables at Centennial Park.

8. SOLDOTNA CREEK PARK

River Mile 22. Operated by the City of Soldotna. Phone (907) 262-3151. Park access is off the Sterling Highway near the Soldotna Tesoro Gas Station. Here you will find 500 feet of elevated boardwalk provided for bank fishing. Toilets and picnic tables are available. The boardwalk has stairs that descend into the river.

9. DONALD E. GILMAN RIVER CENTER

River Mile 23. Operated by Alaska State Parks. Phone (907) 262-5581. It's located on the south side of the Kenai River across from the Soldotna Airport (off Funny River Rd.); approximately 4,000 feet of the riverbank is closed nearby from July 1st-August 15th. Please respect these closures. Just upstream and downstream from this closure area is 600 feet of bank fishing area. No amenities are provided.

10. SWIFTWATER PARK

River Mile 23. Operated by the City of Soldotna. Phone (907) 262-3151. This is the second City of Soldotna campground. It is reached via East Redoubt Rd., off the Sterling Hwy. near Fred Meyers Department Store.

Parking, restrooms, and overnight, dry camping are available. They do not take reservations. Call 907.262.3151 with questions. Parking fee.

11. ROTARY PARK

River Mile 23. Operated by the City of Soldotna. Phone (907) 262-3151. Access the park from Funny River Rd. It is 2.5 miles down on the left. Parking has a fee. There are 625 feet of elevated boardwalk, but using chest waders, one can access the river from stairs. This is a day-use area, only. Seasonal passes are available. Call 907.262.3151. Parking fee.

12. MOOSE RANGE MEADOWS

River Mile 25-27.3. This area is monitored by the Kenai National Wildlife Refuge. Phone (907) 262-7021. To get there, take East Redoubt Ave. from the Sterling Hwy. by Fred Meyers Department Store, and then, East Redoubt turns into Keystone Drive. Drive to the end of Keystone Drive. The parking lot is on the left side of the road. The Meadows have elevated platforms that are handicap accessible. Although, one may need help netting fish as the platforms are high above the water. There are two primary sections here, so if you want to avoid the crowds, take the boardwalk downstream.

ONE DAY FOUR WAYS:

EXPLORE LIKE A LOCAL

WHEN PLANNING AN ALASKA TRIP, HERE'S A LITTLE SECRET: SOLDOTNA IS ONLY WITHIN TWO HOURS OF ANY ACCESSIBLE AREA ON THE ENTIRE KENAI PENINSULA. ONE CAN PARK AN RV, SET UP A TENT, OR RENT A ROOM RIGHT HERE WHERE ALL THE CONVENIENCES OF A LARGE TOWN EXIST WITHOUT HAVING TO RELOCATE EVERY DAY.

EXPERIENCE SEWARD

Seward (95 miles southeast of Soldotna) is a port city surrounded by mountainous peaks and the gateway to Kenai Fjords National Park. Visit Exit Glacier, the most accessible of the Kenai Fjord National Park's glaciers. Experience sport fishing, glacier and wildlife cruises, sailing, hiking, kayaking, flightseeing, and summer dog sled rides. For sea animal exhibits, visit the Alaska SeaLife Center, a premier aquarium.

Other Points of Interest:

- Visit the Benny Benson Memorial at the lagoon. Benny designed the Alaska State Flag.
- Take a Historical Society Walking Tour of historic buildings and "Millionaires Row" on Third Ave.
- Climb Mt. Marathon; follow the route of the second oldest foot race in the United States.

EXPERIENCE COOPER LANDING

Situated in the middle Kenai Peninsula, Cooper Landing (48 miles east of Soldotna) sits at the intersection of the Kenai and Russian Rivers, which makes it an especially fertile fishing spot. Other activities in this area include a scenic Kenai Lake trip, rafting the Kenai River, kayaking, fly-fishing, and recreational gold panning, and hiking through the beautiful Kenai Mountains. Skilak Wildlife Recreation Area to campgrounds, trails, scenic photographic pullouts, and fishing spots. This 18 mile, looped road is a favorite for the locals because of its beauty and wildlife viewing.

Other Points of Interest:

- Cooper Landing Historical Society & Museum - view a complete skeleton of a roadkill brown bear (ask about the neat story behind it).
- K'Beq Native Heritage Site - The Kenaitze Indian Tribe's interpretative site offers visitors a glimpse into traditional Dena'ina customs and culture; gift shop and presentations offered.

EXPERIENCE HOMER

Homer (located 78 miles south of Soldotna) is located on the shores of Kachemak Bay, surrounded by glaciers and mountains. Known as the "End of the Road," because it hosts a natural geographic landform called a spit. The Homer Spit is the 2nd longest of its kind in the world and offers a series of boardwalks with shops, charter services, food outlets, gift shops, etc. Sightseeing tours are also available from the Spit, which take you to Seldovia, Halibut Cove, etc., and guarantee an abundance of wildlife and hospitality. Homer is also known for its many artists, so be sure to visit some of the art galleries on Pioneer Drive.

Other Points of Interest:

- The Homer Seafarer's Memorial at the end of the Homer Spit.
- Pratt Museum- a regional natural history museum; exhibits surround the life of Kachemak Bay society.
- Carl E. Wynn Nature Center- an 140-acre wildlife preserve with trails detailed with wildflowers; watch for the appearance of moose, bear, lynx, and songbirds.

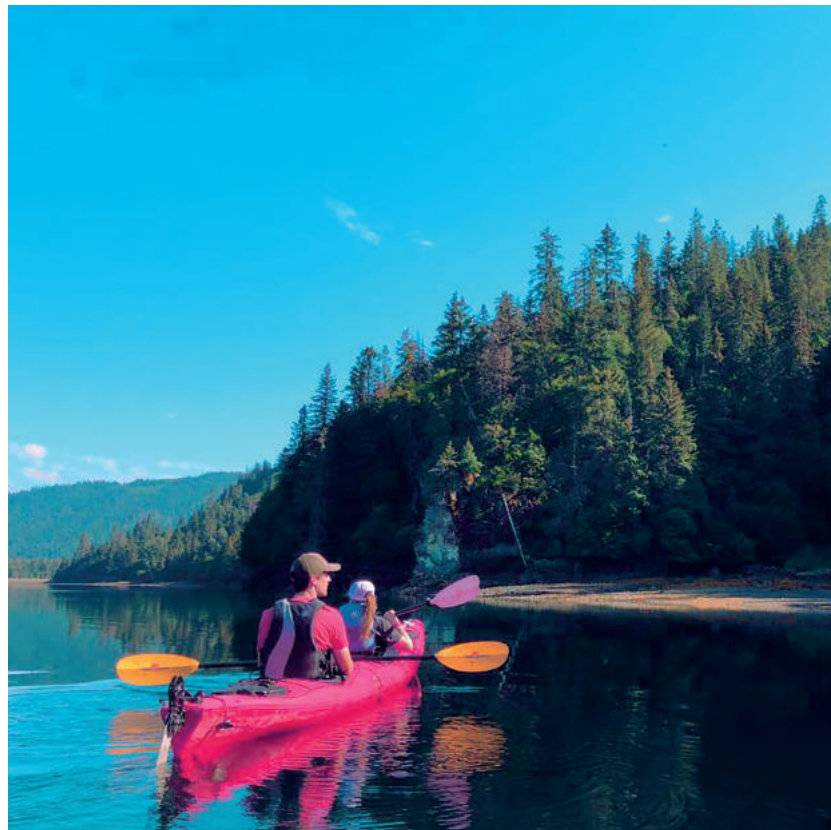

EXPERIENCE KENAI AND CAPTAIN COOK STATE PARK

Head west, ten miles, to the City of Kenai located on the bluffs of the Cook Inlet. Visit one of the oldest-standing Russian Orthodox Churches in Alaska, the Holy Assumption of the Virgin Mary (Est. 1791). For excellent views of the mouth of the Kenai River, Alaska resident dip-netters, and the active Ring of Fire, visit Leif Hanson Memorial Park in Old Town Kenai.

The flats along Bridge Access Road are a favorite hangout for the local caribou herd. Drive 26 miles beyond Kenai to Captain Cook State Park where the beaches are a favorite among agate hunters. Camping is permitted with a fee.

Other Points of Interest:

- Kenai Historic Cabin Park - interactive displays inside each of the historic buildings.
- Kenai Fine Art Center - housed in the historic Kenai jail and firehouse, this center offers workshops, exhibition and sales gallery space to local artists, musical interludes, fine art, and various events for the community.
- Drive out Marathon Road (near Walmart) for a chance to see frolicking wildlife like moose, caribou, marten, and eagles; don't forget to bring a bucket for chance berry picking.

Travel Tips

HOW TO GET TO SOLDOTNA

There are plenty of options for traveling to and from Soldotna and for touring the Kenai Peninsula. The Kenai Municipal Airport, located 11 road miles from Soldotna, provides scheduled and chartered air passenger services. Taking a flight from Anchorage to Kenai takes only about 25 minutes. Two popular air carriers are Ravn Alaska and Grant Aviation. Car rental agencies and taxis are available at the Kenai Municipal Airport. Uber and Lyft drivers are on the Kenai Peninsula, as well.

If a leisurely drive from Anchorage to Soldotna sounds more appealing, then consider renting a car or an RV. Some stretches of the Seward and Sterling highways require that motorists drive with headlights on at all times. Still want a scenic drive but not the stress of driving oneself? Charter van services and buses are available in Anchorage and make the drive south to Soldotna; most of these services need a reservation in advance.

RESERVATIONS

It is usually best to make reservations for lodging or guided excursions; however, it is essential during the peak months of June and July.

It is not unusual for businesses to require a deposit to secure reservations. It is very important that you ask a lot of questions before paying anyone. Be very specific about the services that you expect for your payment and get an agreement in writing. For example: does the package include rain gear, fishing gear, fish cleaning, shipping, or storage; is there any refund if the weather prohibits fishing; exactly how many hours will you get for your money?

If someone offers you an additional amenity, be sure to ask if there will be any additional charge for the service and what their policy is should the river go to catch and release. Lodging: is there a refund policy if they overbook and don't have your room available, or if it does not meet your standards of safety and cleanliness? A booking agent may be helpful when you are trying to secure lodging or guiding services.

For more independent travel planners, visit the Soldotna Visitor Center Vacancy Program online at www.visitsoldotna.com or call our staff for additional help at 907-262-1337.

CLOTHING

The key to being comfortable and warm is light layering. It may seem warm outside, but you never know when a cool breeze might come up, especially when you are on or near the water. Fall and winter travelers will want to layer a little heavier. Sunglasses are a good idea any time of the year. Our sun is bright in the summer and winter; there may be quite a glare off the water, snow, or ice.

WILDLIFE VIEWING

Often the best viewing is on slightly overcast days and in the fall (late August and September). It is important to keep a respectable distance when viewing any wildlife; binoculars and a good camera are helpful. It is common to see bear wherever fish and berries are plentiful. For this reason, it is recommended to carry bear spray and to hike in groups.

Moose and Caribou may seem very docile, often strolling along the highway or through residential areas; however, they can be fiercely protective of their offspring and may suddenly become quite aggressive towards humans and pets.

If you travel with a dog, it is important to keep your dog tethered for their protection and your own. Remember to be considerate and pull off the road when viewing wildlife; sudden and unexpected stops may result in a collision. Keep a sharp eye out and give all wildlife plenty of room.

MOSQUITOES

Although some years are not as bad as others, one should always be prepared for the worst when it comes to mosquitoes. Wear clothing that covers your arms and legs. Avoid wearing bright colors, perfumes and scented hair sprays or lotions as these attract mosquitoes. Most stores and tackle shops supply a wide variety of insect repellent.

WHISTLE HILL

Featuring an espresso shop, eatery, gift shop, and art gallery, as well as a hydroponic farm, Whistle Hill is Soldotna's newest destination that provides a meeting place for locals and visitors alike.

Serving locally roasted espresso and pour-overs by SteamDot of Anchorage, as well as sweet and savory Belgian waffles. Dine inside a 1954 Alaska Railroad passenger car, or enjoy on the go. Monday-Saturday 7 AM-5 PM and Sunday 8 AM-4 PM.

ADDIE CAMP - DINING CAR -

New American cuisine by Head Chef Andrew Agosti featuring fresh Alaska seafood, meat, and produce from the onsite hydroponic farm. Enjoy outdoor dining on two levels, Alaska beers on tap, fine wines and house-made sangria. Open Tuesday-Saturday 5-9 PM for dinner service and Sunday 10 AM-2 PM for brunch. Reservations recommended. 907-262-2334

fresh365
local greens and herbs, year-round
